Introduction Script

THE INTRODUCTION

"Our next speaker has spent nearly four decades in the construction industry — not just talking about leadership, but helping shape it.

From a fourth-generation construction family, from the field to CEO he served as leader of the heavy civil contractor associations in North America. In his mission of positive change, he has delivered more than 2,000 presentations to over 400,000 construction leaders across the United States and Canada.

A well-known leadership expert and author of five books — he is used as a valuable resource by top organizations across North America. Known for his blunt, honest and challenging content... he is here today to share these with all of us.

Please welcome — Mark Breslin."
